Please provide web links to page(s) that (a) provide information specifically about you, and (b) that are likely to remain valid for the long term. We strongly recommend including a webpage, because it is through this that colleagues can learn about you and your work, and this is what we provide in the Member Directory in lieu of information about your credentials, interests and publications. If you do not have such a page through your academic institution, we recommend to establish a page, such as an Academia.edu account.
